

OCTOBER

Sunday	Monday	Tuesday	Wednesday	Thursday	Friday	Saturday
				Can you find any mushrooms? Decaying logs are a good place to look. Also try wet ground.
	Can you find feathers on the ground? Look and sketch them, but remember that in the U.S. it is illegal to keep bird feathers.					Many of the local grasses are dead. Can you identify some of them? How can you tell the difference between grasses and other plants?
			Can you find many abandoned nut hulls? Sometimes people leave them, but most of the time it is the animals...
Many species have started going south for the winter. Do you have any species that you see on their migration route? Do any leave your area? Do you gain any birds?					Can you find any ferns? Look on their undersides. Can you see the spores?
		Different seeds have different ways of dispersing. Can you find seeds that are dispersed by the wind? How about ones that stick to furry animals? What other ways can you see?

NATURE JOURNAL CALENDAR

See what's happening in the month of October. Then take notes about what's happening in your backyard here in this calendar!